Profile

Computer Science student and software developer with hands-on experience on a production web application used by many video editors. Hands-on with GitHub Copilot, Gemini CLI, and Claude Code for AI-augmented development, focused on critically reviewing and improving AI-generated code. Keen aesthetic taste, strong communicator, curious and proactive.

Education

B.Sc Computer Science — Expected graduation: 2028 The Open University of Israel, Tel Aviv

Experience

Apr 2024 – May 2025 — Software Developer (Student Position), SoundXtract

- Built and maintained features for a cloud-based, ML-powered Adobe Premiere Pro plugin shipped to a live, paying user base of professional video editors. The plugin runs alongside Premiere Pro on the user's machine, demanding lean, efficient local resource usage while scaling on the cloud side for many concurrent users.
- Took end-to-end ownership of features.
- Designed and shipped the user onboarding flow, user profiling, and in-app feedback collection via Mixpanel.
- Introduced the project's `copilot-instructions.md`, `CLAUDE.md`, and `GEMINI.md`, and authored a `/dev` skill for local development, debugging, and deployment.
- Frequently used `plan` mode to iterate on AI-generated plans before implementation.
- Participated in code reviews and ongoing optimization of the codebase.
